Understanding Your Negative Cycle

Couples get caught in “negative cycles” of interaction. A “negative cycle” is a repeating pattern of negative behaviors, thoughts and feelings that causes distress. You react to your partner’s reactions and your partner reacts to your reactions, and you go round and round in a never-ending negative cycle. Understanding and untangling your “negative cycle” is a first step in climbing out of distress. The exercise below will help you with this process.

When my partner and I are not getting along: (describe your behaviors)

I often react by:

My partner often reacts to me by:

When my partner reacts this way, I often feel:

When I feel this way, I see myself as:

When I feel this way, I long for or need:

When I react the way I do, I guess that my partner feels:
